MEMORANDUM FOR: Acting Deputy Director for Support

SUBJECT : Office of Personnel Report - Week Ending 23 October 1970

1. New Recruiting Season: The academic recruiting season has been open for three weeks now and our recruiters are beginning to report their reactions to our "low profile" recruitment approach. Several recruiters have reported great satisfaction with our technique of soliciting resumes through faculty and placement directors, screening, and going on campus unannounced (or close by) to interview only those whose qualifications are really worth considering. They are reporting fewer but better interviews. Further they have eliminated the time-consuming interviews with marginal candidates who used to schedule interviews out of curiosity. With few exceptions the recruiters are reporting excellent cooperation by placement directors who appear to appreciate the Agency's intent to avoid confrontation with radical students.
